

SUPPORT WORKER ESSENTIALS

Capacity Building Approaches to Supporting People with Intellectual Disability

ABOUT

The Support Worker Essentials workshop focuses on strategies to support the development of new skills and independence in people with intellectual disability. This workshop is aimed at support workers seeking to develop their person-centred practice and learn the most successful approaches to capacity building.

Attendees will gain:

- An understanding of the critical role support workers play in building capacity and developing independence
- An understanding of the diagnosis of intellectual disability and its impact on engaging in daily tasks or developing new skills
- A range of practical tools, strategies and resources to enable high quality, person-centred support provision

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Support workers who support people with intellectual disability at home or in the community
